Sarver's three goals lift Maryland 4-3

By Peter Brewington

Women's soccer

University of Maryland defender Jackie Mynarski probably could have scored the game winning goal in Wednesday's dramatic last-minute 4-3 win against Fairfield in the first round of the NCAA women's soccer tournament.

Instead, she took no chances. As Fairfield goalkeeper Anne Lynns moved to stop her, Mynarski slotted a perfect pass to Weathershee scored in the fifth minute and Mandy Aiken in the 11th minute.

Georgia outshot Wake Forest 21-10 and forced Wake goalkeepers Sari Rose and Erin Re- again to make eight saves. Georgia advanced to play Saturday at Virginia.

Maryland was featured in USA Today several times last year including its 1998 NCAA run.

Commitment to the Total Person

"Life is so closely connected to the things we learn in athletics. We learn to live a disciplined lifestyle that leads to confidence and personal health. We encourage teamwork, team chemistry, friendships and loyalty," says head coach Shannon Higgins-Cirovski. "We care about every individual who is part of our program and we want them to take pride in being a part of the team and the University of Maryland. We want our players to take pride in being a great person and a great women's soccer player."

Academics

The University of Maryland projects another record-breaking year for the quality of admitted students. The number of applications, GPAs and SAT scores are all up from the same time last year. For the last 10 years, the quality of students being admitted to the University of Maryland has risen steadily.

Average GPAs for incoming freshmen have risen from just under 3.0 to a projected 1.69, SAT scores of the middle 50 percent have risen from 980-1150 to a projected 1,170-1,340, and the number of students with SAT scores above 1,300 has increased from 234 to a projected 1,155.

The University of Maryland has the state's largest concentration of academically talented students, with more than one-third of them enrolled in the invitation-only Honors, Honors Humanities, College Park Scholar or Gemstone programs.

Location

The nation's capital and its major attractions are within 10 miles of the University of Maryland. And the highly efficient Metro system, with a station at the campus doorstep, makes navigating the greater Washington, D.C., area easy. Baltimore is just 35 miles north of the campus. Its rejuvenation as an urban center is unprecedented. The Inner Harbor, its national aquarium and tall ships, and the nearby Oriole Park at Camden Yards, create an exciting, vibrant, holiday atmosphere in a city that boasts one of the world's great seaports. The heart of Maryland, the Chesapeake Bay, is 20 miles from campus, and the state capital, Annapolis, is 30 miles away. Campus neighbors include such important national resources as the Library of Congress, the Smithsonian Institute, the National Institutes of Health, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, and the U.S. Department of Agricultural Research Center.

Athletics

The Maryland women's soccer team competes against the best teams and athletes in the nation and in the best conference in the country. The players also receive the best coaching available. The Maryland coaching staff has played and coached on the national level and can offer the best training possible.

Commitment to the Community

Shannon Higgins-Cirovski and the Maryland women's soccer program are committed to serving the community. It annually sponsors a breast cancer fundraising tournament and donates monies raised to help combat the disease; volunteers at Children's Hospital; and offers soccer clinics and camps to area youth.

"At Maryland we work hard to give each student-athlete the tools to reach their potential as a student, an athlete and most importantly to grow as a person," says Higgins-Cirovski.

New Coach, New Era At Maryland

"I believe that a team's style of play is going to be a product of the players and personalities on the field. Maryland will defend with the ability to win the ball quickly and efficiently and attack with a similarly efficient and attractive style. We will be a team which possess the ball but knows when to go in for the kill."

— Shannon Higgins-Cirovski

The University of Maryland women's soccer team has established itself among the top teams in the nation. It has appeared in a school-record four consecutive NCAA Tournaments, played in the ACC championship game in two of the last four seasons, and returns six starters to this year's team. The Terps have averaged 15 wins in each of the last four seasons and defeated three ranked teams a year ago.

Graduated from last year's NCAA Tournament team are the three highest-scoring players in school history. The Terps will have to replace Keri Sarver, Emmy Harbo and Robin McCullough, who combined for 138 goals and 356 points in the last four years.

For first-year head coach Shannon Higgins-Cirovski, though, the glass is half-full rather than half empty. Higgins-Cirovski welcomes back four of the top seven scorers, three of the top four scoring midfielders and the two goalkeepers who have combined to play every minute of every game in the past two seasons.

Among Higgins-Cirovski's first objectives will to be replace the offensive output the Terps lost to graduation. She will then have to tighten the midfield and allow the defense to continue to mature into a solid unit.

Leading the charges will be senior tri-captains Jackie Mynarski, Emily Janss and Ali Wolff. An experienced core of returning players and a talented recruiting class will join that trio.

Goalkeepers

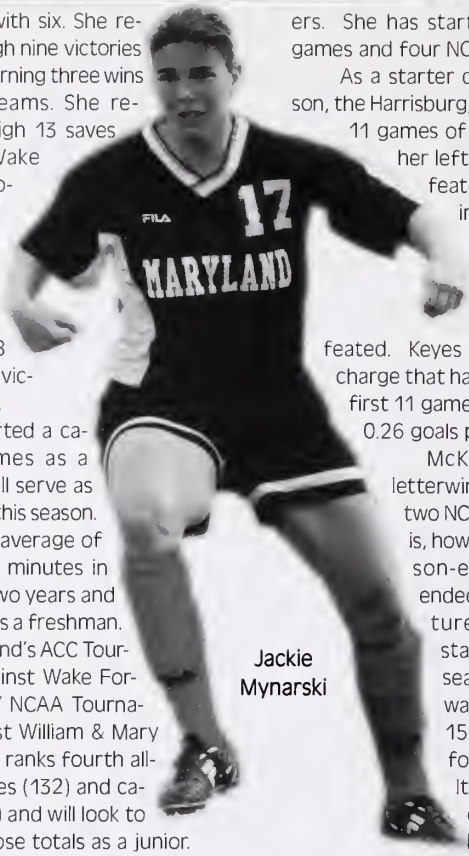
The goalkeeper position is one that Higgins-Cirovski feels will be a strength of the team. The Terps have a pair of tested players at the position in juniors Riki-Ann Serrins and Ali Wolff. The pair has split all of the playing time in each of the past two years and have combined for 12 shutouts and a cumulative goals-against average of 1.67. The duo has played in a combined four ACC Tournament and three NCAA Tournament games. They helped Maryland advance to the championship game of the 1997 ACC Tournament.

Serrins, who was an All-ACC second-team selection as a sophomore, became the first goalkeeper in Maryland women's soccer history to earn All-ACC honors. She ranks third all-time in career goals-against average (1.48), and sixth all-time in shutouts with six. She recorded a career high nine victories last season while earning three wins against ranked teams. She recorded a career-high 13 saves against No. 14 Wake Forest as a sophomore.

A native of Mission Viejo, Calif., Serrins was the starter in Maryland's 1998 NCAA Tournament victory over Fairfield.

Ali Wolff started a career-high 13 games as a sophomore and will serve as a team co-captain this season. She has played an average of more than 1,200 minutes in each of her first two years and won eight games as a freshman. She started Maryland's ACC Tournament game against Wake Forest and the Terps' NCAA Tournament game against William & Mary last season. Wolff ranks fourth all-time in career saves (132) and career shutouts (6.5) and will look to add to both of those totals as a junior.

The Richmond, Va., native, Wolff is a veteran of three NCAA Tournament games, one as a freshman and two as a sophomore.



Jackie Mynarski

Defenders

Maryland's starting lineup could feature three returning starters on defense from what proved to be one of the most consistent positions for the Terps last season. Junior Emily Janss, redshirt senior Tiffany Keyes and junior Vita McKenna are all solid players who have played quality minutes during their careers.

Janss, from Brandon, Fla., is an All-America candidate who has been one of the top defenders in the ACC during her career. She earned All-ACC second team in both 1997 and 1998 and is one of only five players in school history to earn all-conference honors multiple times during her career. Janss enters the 1999 season having started 54 consecutive games and has played in all 73 Terp games during her career.

In addition to her defensive prowess that helped Maryland post five shutout victories in 1998, Janss is the second leading returning scorer from a year ago. She scored four goals and accounted for eight total points.

Keyes is looking forward to her redshirt senior season as one of the top defenders in the conference. She has recovered from knee surgery that sidelined her for the better part of the past three seasons. She is the Terps' elder statesman, who when healthy during her career has been a full-time starter. Keyes has been a starter for the Terps' two all-time winningest teams in school history and is among the most experienced postseason players. She has started four ACC Tournament games and four NCAA Tournament games.

As a starter during her sophomore season, the Harrisburg, Pa., native started the first 11 games of the season before injuring her left knee. Maryland was undefeated (11-0) at the time of her injury. The Terps' 11-game winning streak developed into a school-record 16-game unbeaten streak before Maryland was defeated. Keyes was leading the defensive charge that had allowed three goals in the first 11 games and held its opponents to 0.26 goals per game.

McKenna, a two-time letterwinner, has been a member of two NCAA Tournament teams. She is, however, recovering from a season-ending knee injury which ended her 1998 season prematurely. McKenna earned a starter's role at midfield in preseason camp last season and was in the lineup for the first 15 games of the season before suffering the knee injury. It is hoped that her experience and versatility will allow her to adapt her game to the back line and help make that position one of the Terps' strongest on the field.

McKenna, from Ontario, Canada, has gained valuable experience while playing in 22 games and started 10 as a freshman and 15 games last season. She has played in three ACC Tournament games and one NCAA Tournament game.

A pair of sophomores, Carrie Klotz and Debbie Lieberman, will add depth and experience to the Terps' defense. Klotz has been moved to the back line from the forward position she played last season to make use of her ballhandling skills while Lieberman played in eight games as a defender in 1998.

Klotz, from Cortland, N.Y., has the ability to challenge for a starter's position. She played in all 23 games while starting eight during her inaugural collegiate season. Klotz was a starter or first-half substitution in all 23 games as a freshman and totaled two goals and one assist for five points. Her first career goal was a game-winner against Southern California in the opening round of the Maryland/PUMA Invitational.

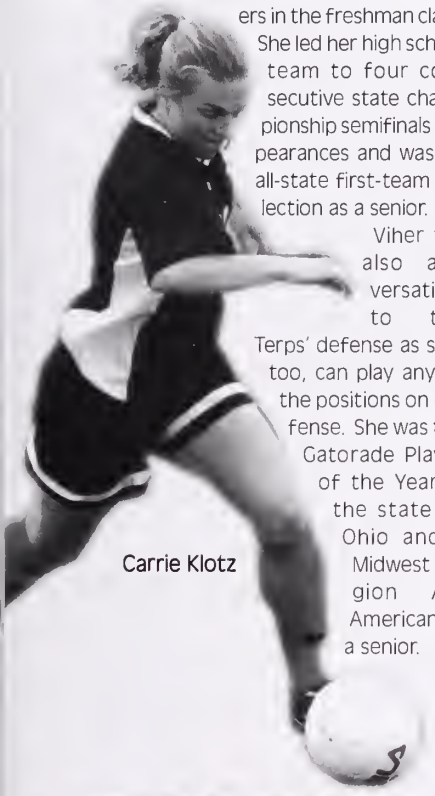
Lieberman will also add depth to the position. She saw her playing time increase as the season went on as she played in six of the last nine games of the season. She was a defensive help in Maryland's 2-0 loss to North Carolina as the Terps held the Tar Heels nearly two goals below their scoring average for the entire season. She was also a substitute defender in her first ACC Tournament game against Wake Forest and earned playing time in Maryland's first-round NCAA Tournament game against Fairfield.

Four members of Higgins-Cirovski's first recruiting class at Maryland are expected to mature quickly and add depth on defense. Lindsay Givens (Downingtown, Pa.), Sally Harrison (Virginia Beach, Va.), Katie Kruse (Chagrin Falls, Ohio) and Carly Viher (Mentor, Ohio) are talented players with impressive resumes.

Givens, Maryland's tallest player, will lend versatility at the center back and defensive midfield positions. She was a four-time defensive Most Valuable Player for her high school team.

Harrison is an experienced defender who possesses the most speed of the incoming freshmen. She was the starting sweeper and was an all-state first-team selection as a high school senior.

Kruse, who can play anywhere in the back, may possess the most versatility of the defenders in the freshman class. She led her high school team to four consecutive state championship semifinals appearances and was an all-state first-team selection as a senior.



Carrie Klotz

Viher will also add versatility to the Terps' defense as she, too, can play any of the positions on defense. She was the Gatorade Player of the Year in the state of Ohio and a Midwest Region All-American as a senior.

Midfielders

Maryland will field an experienced and talented midfield led by seniors Jackie Mynarski and Lindsay Basalyga. Mynarski is the Terps' leading returning scorer as she totaled five goals and five assists for 15 points as a junior. Basalyga also returns among the team's scoring leaders, having totaled five career goals and 14 career points.

Mynarski is a team co-captain who has played in 71 career games. She returns as a starter in the midfield after spending the first three seasons of her career on both offense and defense. An obvious team leader, she is a veteran of five ACC Tournament games and five NCAA Tournament games.

The Somers, N.Y., native played in and started all 23 games and scored a career-high two game-winning goals. She also assisted on All-American Keri Sarver's game-winning goal against Fairfield in the NCAA Tournament. Mynarski's assist came with 21 seconds remaining in regulation time and gave the Terps a 4-3 victory.

Basalyga, who has played in 63 career games, was a starter as both a sophomore and junior and looks to earn a starting role for a third consecutive season in 1999. She was credited with one of the most important assists of the 1998 season against George Washington. Her assist on a Jackie Mynarski goal in the 89th minute sent the Terps' game against George Washington into overtime. The Terps scored late in the first overtime period to win the match. She scored goals against both Florida State and Louisiana State as a junior.

Basalyga, a native of Cincinnati, Ohio, brings experience to the lineup as she has played in four of Maryland's eight all-time NCAA Tournament games.

Sophomore Courtney Beirne, a Maryland native from Westminster, was a pleasant surprise last season who played in 23 games and was credited with a freshman-class high three assists. She gained confidence throughout the season and looks to be a major contributor as a starter in the midfield this season. She will play one of the wide midfield positions and may also see time at the forward position.

Beirne ranked second among freshmen in scoring with three total points and was a starter in three postseason games – one in the ACC Tournament and two in the NCAA Tournament. She played in all 23 games while starting 11. She made an immediate impact as she earned her first career start in her first career game against Penn State. Beirne became the first freshman to start a game since Emily Janss won a starting assignment in the 1996 season opener against St. Mary's of California.

Terri Greer will move into the midfield after spending the first two years of her career on defense. A junior, she has played in 36 career games but missed 11 games last season because of a broken leg. The Woodbridge, Va., native had started 16 consecutive and 18 of 19 games over a two-year period before her injury.

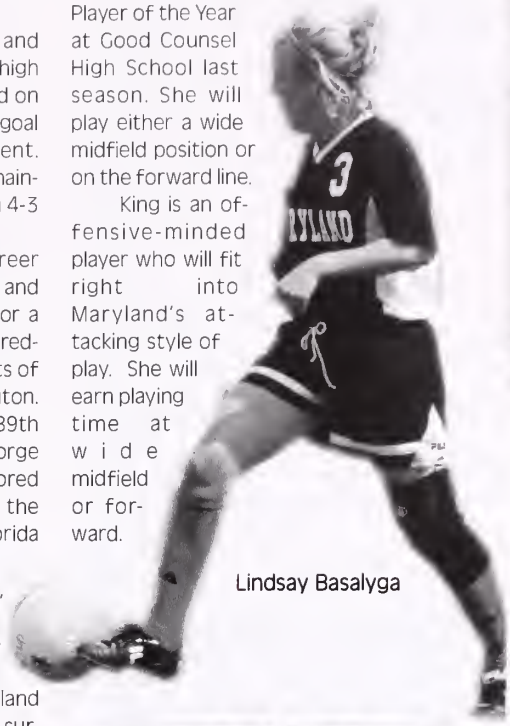
She was one of Maryland's top defenders prior to her injury. She had started the first 14 games of the season before her injury. The Terps were 8-4-1, ranked 14th in the nation and had won four games by shutout prior to her injury.

The newcomers in the midfield include Dana Jarzyniecki (Rochester, N.Y.), Valerie Lawrence (Silver Spring, Md.) and Kim King (Media, Pa.).

Jarzyniecki will compete for playing time at both the forward and midfield positions. She is very quick with the ball at her feet and has an incredible ability to find the back of the net. Jarzyniecki was an all-state first team selection as a senior who scored 40 goals and totaled 41 assists during her four-year high school career.

The Washington Post named Lawrence, a local player from Silver Spring, Md., the All-Met Player of the Year at Good Counsel High School last season. She will play either a wide midfield position or on the forward line.

King is an offensive-minded player who will fit right into Maryland's attacking style of play. She will earn playing time at wide midfield or forward.



Lindsay Basalyga

Forwards

Higgins-Cirovski must replace the three highest-scoring forwards in school-history after Keri Sarver, Emmy Harbo and Robin McCullough finished their careers at the end of the 1998 season. Replacing or even filling the shoes of those three players will be very difficult for the Terps this season. Higgins-Cirovski will implement a combination of returning veterans and exciting newcomers on the front line for the 1999 season.

Senior Julie Nelson, who returns after missing the 1998 season while recovering from back surgery, will challenge for a starting assignment from the first day of preseason camp. She has played in 33 career games and on two NCAA Tournament teams. The McLean, Va., native played in a career-high 22 games while starting eight during her sophomore year.

A trio of freshmen – King, Lawrence and Jarzyniecki – and transfer Sara Gustafson will bolster the team of forwards. King, Lawrence and Jarzneicki will display their versatility in playing both the midfield and forward positions.

Gustafson played at Indiana University in 1998 and is the only newcomer who brings collegiate experience to the Terps this season. She played in 15 games as a Hoosier and will have three years of eligibility remaining at the beginning of the 1999 season.

The Reisterstown, Md., native was a three-time all-state selection and earned four varsity letters while a member of the varsity at Franklin High School. She was the leading scorer in Baltimore County in 1997 with 30 goals and 10 assists for 70 total points.

Head Coach Shannon Higgins-Cirovski

First season at Maryland • Eighth season overall • North Carolina 1990

If you look up the word winner in a dictionary, first-year University of Maryland head coach Shannon Higgins-Cirovski might be one of the definitions.

Higgins-Cirovski could be defined as a person possessing every quality of a winner. Those qualities include the desire to be victorious, the will to achieve, the ambition to accomplish, the wish to be successful and the ability to triumph over every obstacle in one's path.

Higgins-Cirovski, though, is much more than just a definition. She is the epitome of someone who strives to be a winner in every facet of their lives.

The former head coach of the U.S. U-18 women's team and former head coach at George Washington University, Higgins-Cirovski was named head coach of the Maryland women's soccer program on Jan. 13, 1999. She joins her husband, Sasho, on the Maryland athletic staff. Sasho Cirovski, the men's soccer coach since 1993, led the Terps to the Final Four last year for the first time since 1969.

Shannon Cirovski's appointment means a return to the Atlantic Coast Conference for an individual generally regarded as one of the pioneers of the women's game in the United States. Cirovski played on four NCAA championship teams at the University of North Carolina, was the consensus national college Player of the Year in 1989, and helped lead the U.S. to the 1991 World Cup title.

Cirovski, 31, served as head coach at George Washington from 1991-97, leading the Colonials to their only NCAA Tournament appearance (1996) in school history. She was named as the Atlantic 10 Coach of the Year in 1994 when she led the Colonials to a 12-8-0 record and led GWU to the Atlantic-10 West Division title in 1995. She is the winningest women's soccer coach in GWU history, posting a seven-year mark of 69-59-11.

A 1990 graduate of North Carolina, the former Shannon Higgins helped lead the Tar Heels to four NCAA titles and a cumulative record of 89-0-6 from 1986-89. A two-time first-team All-American, she was named national Player of the Year by Soccer America magazine in 1988 and 1989 and consensus national Player of the Year in 1989. Higgins-Cirovski was the 1989 recipient of the prestigious Hermann Award as the nation's top Division I women's soccer player. In addition, she won the Honda-Broderick award as the top female athlete in the nation, also in 1989.

"Shannon Cirovski is a proven winner at all levels of the game. She is widely respected at the collegiate and international levels, and is the person we believe will elevate Maryland into one of the country's elite programs, eventually competing for a national championship. She did a remarkable job in leading GWU to its first-ever NCAA Tournament in 1996, and her appointment as a full-time coach representing our country at the national level speaks for itself. We feel that the combination of Shannon and Sasho leading our women's and men's soccer programs is a unique fit for us and them."

— Deborah A. Yow
Director of Athletics
University of Maryland

She pulled off the remarkable feat of scoring the game-winning goals in the 1987, 1988 and 1989 NCAA championship matches. She ended her career at UNC tied for first in career assists (51), fifth in scoring (129 points) and seventh in goals (39). She is one of five women's soccer players in UNC history to have her jersey number (3) retired by the university.

She continued her playing career at the international level, representing the United States in competition 51 times. She assisted on both of the U.S. team's goals in a 2-1 win over Norway in the 1991 World Cup final, this country's first world soccer title. She retired as a player following the '91 World Cup. Higgins-Cirovski was honored by FIFA this past summer, along with the entire 1991 world champion U.S. women's team, at halftime of the 1999 World Cup championship game at the Rose Bowl in Pasadena, Calif.

Higgins-Cirovski served as head coach of the recently formed U.S. Under-18 women's national team in 1998, with responsibilities to identify, select and train the top U-18 female players in the U.S., while also serving as an assistant on the women's national team and the women's U-20 team. The U-18 team was undefeated during her time as head coach.

Over the last seven years, Higgins-Cirovski has been the director of her own soccer camp.

Higgins-Cirovski holds a U.S. Soccer "A" coaching license, and from 1994-98 served as the director of the Maryland State Girls Olympic Development Program in addition to her duties as a Region I staff coach. She is also a clinician for the Maryland State Youth Soccer Association and the National Soccer Coaches Association of America convention.

She is a 1990 graduate of North Carolina with a bachelor of arts degree in industrial relations.

The Cirovskis have two young daughters, Hailey (5) and Karli (3).

Family Affair

Shannon Higgins-Cirovski joins her husband, Sasho, on the Maryland athletic staff. Sasho Cirovski, the men's soccer coach since 1993, led the Terps to the Final Four last year for the first time since 1969.

"Of all the players I have coached, no one is more suited to be a coach. She is a brilliant field organizer and a tactical genius. The cliche 'coach on the field' certainly always applied to her during her playing career. Every team she presents will be well-organized and difficult to play. Assistant Coach Kerry Dziczkaniec

First season at Maryland • George Washington 1993

Kerry Dziczkaniec is in her first season as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland and her seventh as a coach on the Division I level. She will be involved in all aspects of the program with an emphasis in on-field coaching, scouting, and recruiting. Dziczkaniec was a standout goalkeeper during her playing days and will rely on that knowledge and experience in working with the Terp netminders.

She has spent nearly her entire career coaching in the Atlantic Coast Conference, with stints at Virginia (1994-96) and Florida State (1996-99). Dziczkaniec began her coaching career as an assistant coach at Georgetown in 1993.

While at Virginia Dziczkaniec worked on the staff of head coach Lauren Gregg, who is currently an assistant coach for the world champion U.S. national team. During her tenure, Dziczkaniec worked with two of the top goalies in Cavalier women's soccer history. She tutored Becky Hornbacher, who holds program records for career goals-against average (0.78) and shutouts in a single season (11 in 1994). Virginia was ranked among the nation's top 10 and played in the NCAA Tournament during both of her years in Charlottesville.

She also realized success during her three years at Florida State. The Lady Seminoles established the school record for victories in a season (12) in 1996 and averaged nearly 10 wins a year during her tenure. The program also won its first-ever ACC regular season game (1997) and defeated a ranked team for the first time in school history (1998).

A 1993 graduate of George Washington University, she earned a degree in exercise and sport science. While at George Washington, she was the starting goalkeeper in 1991 and 1992 and a four-year varsity letterwinner. She recorded a career-best six shutouts in 1991 and a career-low 1.20 goals-against average in 1992. She earned team MVP honors in 1991 as she led the Colonials to nine victories and served as team captain during the 1991 and 1992 seasons.

Dziczkaniec was a member of the Virginia and Maryland Olympic Development Program coaching staffs from 1992-95. She holds a United States Soccer Federation "C" coaching license. Her professional playing experience lists the Baltimore Lady Bays and Maryland Pride of the U.S. Women's Inter-regional Soccer League.

Among her accomplishments were playing with the 1996 women's amateur division national championship team, the Virginia-based Soccer Academy United. She was a starter on the championship squad with the Maryland Pride as they won the USISL "W" league 1996 national championship. Dziczkaniec was selected to the all-tournament team at the national tournament.

Assistant Coach Katherine Remy

Second season at Maryland • Duke 1996

Katherine Remy, who helped coach the Terps to a berth in the 1998 NCAA Tournament, is in her second season as an assistant coach at the University of Maryland. She will be involved in all aspects of the program including scouting, recruiting, practice, travel, scheduling and administration. Remy's on-field coaching duties will center on the Terps' offense and offensive strategies.

During her first season at Maryland, in 1998, the Terps played in the NCAA Tournament for the fourth consecutive season. The Terps were ranked throughout the entire season and defeated three ranked teams in reaching double figures in victories for the fourth straight year.

Remy coached the most talented forward line in school history last season. She helped train Keri Sarver and Emmy Harbo, who finished their careers among the top 10 in goals and total points in ACC history. Sarver scored a school-record 21 goals and 49 total points while Harbo accounted for 12 goals and a near school-record 12 assists in 1998. Maryland averaged nearly 2.5 goals per game last season.

Remy began her coaching career at the University of Pennsylvania where she was an assistant in 1996 and 1997. The Quakers won the ECAC championship with a 14-5-0 record. The 14 victories are the school-record for wins in a single season. In addition to her duties with the women's soccer team, Remy also served as the office coordinator in the Office of Health Education and was an assistant academic coordinator for athletics.

Prior to beginning her coaching career, Remy was a four-year starter for Duke (1992-95). In 1992 she was an ACC all-tournament team selection. She earned All-America second-team honors by Soccer News and was named All-South Region, All-ACC first-team and to the All-ACC Tournament team as a sophomore in 1993. In 1994, she was an All-ACC second-team selection. She earned mention to the Soccer America Collegiate Team of the Week three times during her career and holds the school record for points in a single game with seven (three goals and one assist) against Campbell during her sophomore season.

She scored 24 goals and added 18 assists for 66 total points during her career. She enjoyed her best seasons with seven goals and seven assists during her junior and sophomore years. Remy is currently ranked tied for third in career goals, fourth in total points, and fifth in assists in Duke women's soccer history.

Remy was a member of the 1994 U.S. National "B" team, and was a 1994 and 1995 U.S. Olympic Festival participant.

Remy earned her bachelor's degree in history/sociology from Duke in 1996 and her master's in higher education from Pennsylvania in 1998.

Terps Make Fourth Straight NCAA Appearance

The Maryland women's soccer team played in its fourth consecutive NCAA Tournament, won 11 games and nearly tied the school record for regular season conference victories while playing one of the nation's toughest schedules. The Terps defeated Fairfield, 4-3, in the first round of the NCAA Tournament before falling to William & Mary, 2-0, in the second round. It marked the third time in school history that the Terps had won at least one game in the NCAA Tournament. In addition, Maryland won 11 games over the course of the season to bring its four-year total to 60 which averages out to 15 victories a year from 1995-98. It is the winningest four-year period in school history.

Sarver Sets Goal, Assist Marks

Senior Keri Sarver closed her career as the program leader in eight different offensive categories including career goals (61), career assists (33) and career total points (155). She has established school records for total points in a single-season (49) and has tied the single-season school record for goals in a season (21). Her goals and points totals are personal bests for the senior.

Senior Class Is Winningest Ever

Maryland's senior class of Emmy Harbo, Keri Sarver, midfielders Robin McCullough and Wendy Baldwin and defenders Abby Bausman, Marybeth Egan and Laura Varela is the all-time winningest senior class in school history. Over the course of the last four years, Maryland has a record of 60-31-6 for a winning percentage of 64.9. The senior class played in three NCAA Tournaments, two ACC Tournament championship games and set a school record for victories (19) in a single season in 1996.

Sarver & Harbo Among ACC Best

Keri Sarver and Emmy Harbo closed their careers ranked in the top 10 in scoring in ACC history. Sarver scored three goals against Fairfield in the first round of the NCAA Tournament to move her career point total to 155. Sarver is ranked seventh in conference history while Harbo has totaled 140 total points to rank ninth.

1998 Season Recaps

Sept. 4, 1998

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. – Freshman Bonnie Young scored a career-high three goals and freshman Emily Oleksiuk recorded her first career shutout as No. 25 Penn State defeated No. 13 Maryland, 3-0, at Jeffrey Field. Young's three goals accounted for the first hat trick in the five-year history of the Lady Lions program. Young scored what proved to be the winning goal at the 22:31 mark of the first half. She later added goals at the 75:23 and 83:07 marks of the second half. Sophomore Jeannine Verdgrager added a career-high three assists. The Terps, who were outshot, 17-13, lost their season opener for the first time under third-year head coach Alan Kirkup and for the first time since the 1994 season.

Ludwig Field, Home of the Terps

Because of the expanding horizon of Terrapin soccer and the growing interest in its achievement on the field, the most extensive facility enhancement in Maryland soccer history was undertaken in 1995. The result: the state-of-the-art Ludwig Soccer Field.

Built at a cost of $2.5 million, the facility's quality now matches the soccer program. Ludwig Field, officially dedicated on Sept. 16, 1995, is surely a cornerstone of college soccer throughout the nation.

The 4,000-seat facility is an integral part of the more than $40 million of new construction for Maryland athletics. The complex is fully lighted with an all-weather track and a sodded Bermuda grass playing field.

The permanent lights allow for commonly scheduled night games. The lights also allow Maryland the ability to host NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference tournaments, high-caliber in-season tournaments and nationally televised games.

The complex was also constructed with the local soccer fan very much in mind. The field is located directly adjacent to Parking Lot 1 and close to the University Boulevard entrance. The facility is named after lifetime Terrapin friends Bob and Louise Ludwig.

Ludwig Field was packed for the Terps' game against North Carolina on Oct. 10, 1997, when a facility-record 4,380 came out for the ACC battle.

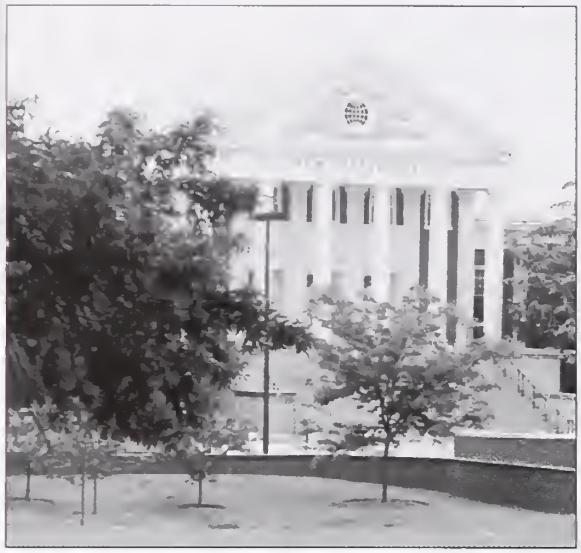
University of Maryland



Leading the Way into the 21st Century

- A Carnegie Research-I University
- Member, Association of American Universities
- Flagship of the University System of Maryland
- Division I NCAA Athletics

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Ten years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment.

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

The Campus

The University of Maryland, College Park, is the most comprehensive institution of higher education, research and service in the state. The university offers 100 undergraduate majors, 88 master's programs and 69 doctoral programs in 13 colleges and schools.

The university is one of only 30 public research universities that are members of the prestigious 58-member Association of American Universities. It is classified as a Research-I university by the Carnegie Foundation by virtue of the range of its baccalaureate programs, the amount of federal support received and the number of doctoral degrees awarded each year, sharing that honor with the top research universities in the country.

Among the public universities in the Association of American Universities, Maryland ranks among the top in percentage of African-American undergraduate students. In addition, the university has the largest number of African-Americans and other minority members among its peers.

Flagship Status

In 1988, the University of Maryland, College Park, was designated as the flagship institution for the University System of Maryland. As well as pursuing a serious research mission and continuing its high level of service to the state, the university rededicated itself to providing the highest quality graduate and undergraduate education. Increased undergraduate opportunities for research and individual study; the development of the College Park Scholars Program and the expansion of the University Honors Program; the genesis of Honors Humanities and Gemstone; the creation of CORE, the general education program; and the establishment of the Center for Teaching Excellence all affirmed the legislature's designation of flagship.

Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

A Wired World

Students at the University of Maryland are part of an academic community that enjoys free access to networked computer resources and facilities that are among the best in the country. Free computer accounts enable users to store class work on a networked server, download classroom support materials and other electronic information from campus networked resources.

President C.D. Mote

C.D. (Dan) Mote Jr. took office as president in September 1998 with a clear vision for taking the University of Maryland down the home stretch to its destiny as one of America's great research universities.

Mote came to Maryland from the University of California at Berkeley, where he had earned all of his degrees, and where he had served in faculty and administration more than 30 years. He had most recently been vice chancellor for university relations.

In Maryland, he found a university already well on its way to achieving the greatness envisioned when the General Assembly declared it the flagship institution of the University System of Maryland. Mote immediately took a leadership role on the Governor's Task Force on Governance, Coordination and Funding of the University System of Maryland to gain greater autonomy and flexibility for the university to pursue its goals. He followed that by working closely with state leaders to boost university funding for new programs, scholarships and faculty, gaining a 10 percent appropriations increase in his first year.

When the legislature had finished its work for the year, Mote spelled out in his inauguration address his vision of Maryland as a great research university, where teaching and research are "inseparable." In this plan, the faculty creates a culture of excellence that permeates the university, student success is the center of all activity, and the extended Maryland family of alumni and friends grows rich in pride and tradition.

High achievement has been Dan Mote's life, from his student days at the University of California through his years as an outstanding teacher and world-renowned researcher and his leadership of a highly successful capital campaign at Berkeley. He arrived in College Park determined to continue the same level of achievement in his new post.

After earning his doctorate in engineering mechanics from Berkeley in 1963, Mote spent a year as a research fellow at the University of Birmingham in England, then three years as assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh before returning to Berkeley in 1967.

There he stayed for more than 30 years before coming to Maryland. He was promoted to professor in 1973.

Mote and his wife Patsy live in the President's Residence on the College Park campus. They have two grown children and four grandchildren.

Maryland WOMEN'S Soccer

Maryland Terrapins

Among the Nation's Best

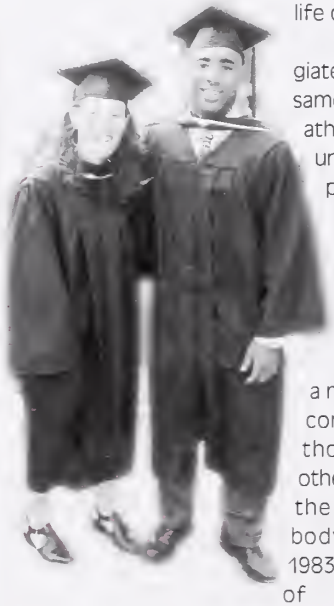
This is Maryland Athletics

At the University of Maryland, winning is not taken lightly. Like the rich history of all its sports programs, championships are a tradition.

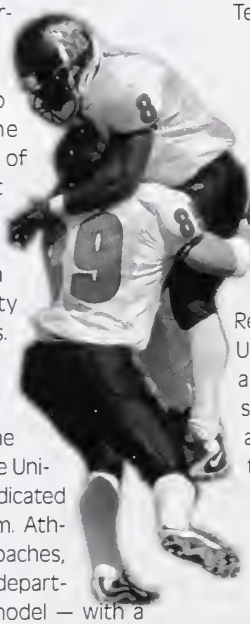
Since the 1950s, Maryland has established itself as one of the most successful athletic programs in the nation. This type of success is no accident; it has been built year-by-year on the achievements of outstanding young men and women who were given the opportunity to excel both on and off the field of play. The victories, the championships and the national acclaim are all ingredients of the Maryland athletic program. Student-athletes who attend Maryland are part of a program and a university which thrives on tradition and excellence.

Academic Excellence

The University of Maryland considers intercollegiate athletics an integral part of the collegiate experience. Its existence provides an opportunity for students, faculty, alumni and students to share in the life of intercollegiate athletics.



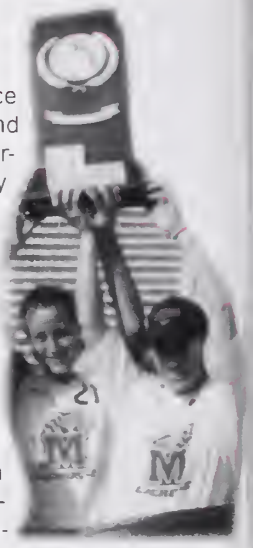
The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to achieve the same standards of excellence in its athletic program as exist within the university's teaching, research and public service programs. The department embraces the concept that the student-athlete is first and foremost a student, possessing academic abilities, personal interests and ambitions comparable to those of the other members of the student body. Since 1983, 88 percent of freshmen scholarship athletes who completed their eligibility at the University of Maryland earned their degrees.



Goals

The great thing about being a Terrapin is the commitment to hard work and dedication. At the University of Maryland, the athletic department is dedicated to supporting a well-balanced Division I program. Athletic director Deborah A. Yow and her dedicated coaches, administrators and staff have re-engineered the department into a responsive and financially sound model — with a clear vision and a determined drive toward national prominence.

Athletic Success



National championships, conference championships, national rankings and postseason play are all a part of the University of Maryland experience. The University of Maryland has established itself as one of the nation's elite athletic programs. The Terrapins have won 13 national championships, including a record five consecutive by the women's lacrosse team. The Terrapins had plenty of reason to celebrate when it came to intercollegiate athletics in 1998-99, as they posted their second consecutive Top 25 finish in the national Sears Directors' Cup all-sports ranking. Its 38-position jump from the No. 57 spot in 1994-95 to the No. 19 spot in 1997-98 was the greatest in that time by a school not previously ranked in the top 25.

Competition

Wearing the Maryland uniform means playing in front of some of the loudest and most supportive fans in the nation. It means playing against the best teams in the country, in the most prestigious conference in the country, the ACC. It means wearing the school colors with pride. It means doing your best in athletics and academics. It is a unique and special feeling being a Terrapin.

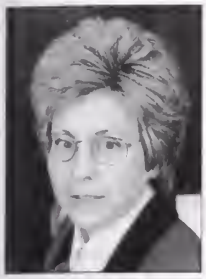
Athletes in the Community

From the media spotlight to the community spotlight, Terrapin student-athletes strengthen the ties of the local community by serving as role models. Community service is a key part of the Terrapins' agenda. Student-athletes support many community programs which help to enrich the lives of Maryland youth while teaching the importance of studying hard and saying "no" to drugs and alcohol. Representatives from the University of Maryland athletic department speak to participants and use their image and the appeal of sports to encourage Maryland children to stay in school, improve their reading and writing skills, and to receive their high school diplomas.

Athletic Director Deborah A. Yow

Yow to assume presidency of NACDA in July 2000

Dr. Deborah A. Yow has led Terrapin athletics to balanced budgets, high levels of productivity and achievement and a vigorous commitment to excellence throughout its operations. She is beginning her sixth year as Maryland's director of athletics.



Since taking over at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all five of the more than $25 million annual budgets (the first balanced budgets for the Terrapins in 10 years).
- Improved graduation rates for student-athletes, above that of the general student population, in three of those five years.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 10 percent of all NCAA Division I schools.
- Reorganized and upgraded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 85% and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 270% during her tenure at Maryland.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Paid off $7 million in operating debt accrued before her arrival in 1994.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fundraising applications.
- Significantly improved customer service in every area.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past five years, Debbie Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves." As a manager and leader, she clearly models these principles.

Dr. Yow is a member of the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee. In addition, she will become president of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics in July 2000, and was recently singled out by Street & Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading athletic administrators in the U.S.

A former basketball coach, she began her coaching career at the high school level in North Carolina before taking over as head women's coach at the University of Kentucky in 1976. She also achieved an outstanding coaching record as head coach at the University of Florida. She later moved into athletic administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina-Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as A.D. at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics, management, and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire Terrapin athletic program, Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets and our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our successes ... and the basis for our bright future."

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Ludwig Field may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Jason Yellin in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 1112 Cole Field House, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-7062. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.
